Meet Terry McGinnis, Director of Sales

Terry McGinnis, Director of Sales, joins his brother Tim McGinnis and Ron Grace at Superior Car Parts, providing quality hot rod and restoration parts. Terry's love affair with the automobile started at a very young age. By age 17, he owned and operated his own service station in Downers Grove, IL, soon adding another full-service gas station. During his 22 years in the service station business, he wore many hats: ASE certified mechanic, general manager, handy man, tow truck driver, service writer, and teacher.

As the industry began to change, Terry moved forward as the Manager of Sales and Marketing for a starter and alternator company. He continued as a teacher, technical seminar instructor, and successful salesman. So successful, in fact, he was recruited by a trucking broker company to expand its existing customer base. He added more than 100 new customers, and annual sales totals of more than a million dollars.

Because of his combination of business and technical background, he was offered the opportunity to assist in the start-up of a new hot rod business. Ten years later he is still involved in building show-winning cars. Terry is involved in every process of the "ground-up" build from metal fabrication and electrical wiring, to the final delivery of the car.

An exciting new chapter in his career, Terry is combining his technical and sales experience again at Superior Car Parts.
